S.NO	SUGGESTIONS	ACTION TAKEN
1	Extra courses can be offered to keep the students updated with the latest developments and meet the current industry needs.	In response to the students' suggestions, the institute is regularly organizing a range of add-on courses.
2	Current issues and real-life incidents can be discussed with students to provide practical context and enhance their understanding of the subject matter.	It has been observed that the students prioritize practical learning. To address this, the teachers have been encouraged to incorporate more live examples and case studies into their lectures, linking the topics to the current national and international events. This approach helps the students see the real-world applications of their studies and deepens their understanding.
3	Continuous assessment is essential in evaluating the students' progress and performance over time. It provides ongoing feedback and helps identify areas for improvement, ensuring a more comprehensive understanding of their learning and development.	It has been decided to implement continuous assessment in evaluating the students' progress. The students are to be provided with assignments, class tests and seminars. This approach ensures a fair evaluation and gives a comprehensive view of each student's performance.
4	Books, belonging to the graduated students can be circulated among the current students to help reduce their financial expenditure on buying textbooks.	Students can access the book bank facility from the library, allowing them to borrow the necessary textbooks and reference materials.
